PTE Young Learner test PTE Young Learners (formerly known as LTEFC) are international English language exams for young children (aged from 7 to 12) who are learning English as a foreign language (EFL). Pearson created PTE Academic in response to demand from institutions, government and other organizations for a more accurate way of testing non - native English language students who enter the English-speaking academia world.[8] PTE Academic is endorsed by the Graduate Management Admission Council. CEFR level PTE General Exam time C2 Proficient (Mastery) Level 5 2h55 C1 Advanced (Operational Proficiency) Level 4 2h30 B2 Upper Intermediate Level 3 2h B1 Intermediate Level 2 1h35 A2 Elementary Level 1 1h30 A1 Foundation Level A1 1h15 Reading, writing, listening and speaking are tested at all levels. The alignment of the London Tests of English to the CEFR has been established by mapping the test specifications to the CEFR descriptors. Upon release, it was recognized by nearly 6,000 organizations.[6] For instance, the test is approved for use by the Australia Border Agency and the Australian Department of Immigration and Citizenship for visa applications. The Framework was developed by the Council of Europe to enable language learners, teachers, universities or potential employers to compare and relate language qualifications by level. For this reason, the tests use real-life scenarios rather than pedantic grammatical exercises. Schemata (plural of schema) are learned models suggesting relationships between objects and help structure future learning. Work is in progress to further improve the robustness of the alignment on the basis of empirical data.[16] Levels 4 and 5 of the PTE General are accepted for entrance to universities in the UK and by a variety of international companies. Theory of Schema PTE Young Learners and PTE General are based on a scenario, which accords with Schema Theory.
