Below are the following methods you can use to send your wedding invitations. It would also be advisable to send your wedding invitations as soon they are done or printed to let your guests know in advance of the details of your wedding, especially for the ones who have roles in your wedding ceremony. The following methods to send your invitations in outlook include:Email - One of the most common methods of sending your wedding invitations is through email. Since you will have PDF copies of your invitations, you can send them through email as long as you have your guests' email addresses and other contact information just to be sure. Some guests also prefer to receive invitations through emails for their apps to automatically schedule the event in their calendars. Others also prefer to receive them through email because they use their emails daily.Mail - Another alternative method to sending your wedding invitations is through the mail. If you want to send your invitations through mail, it would be advisable to send them as early as possible to prevent delays from the shipping time, which may also delay the time it gets for your guests to receive them. You should also use this method if your guests do not have access to emails, internet technology, or are not familiar with using electronic devices.Social Media - You can also use your social media to send your wedding invitations to your guests through private messages. This only works, though, if you and your guests are connected with a certain social media account. This is also an advantage because most people use social media today to be updated with their family and friends; at the same time, kids and adults mostly use this medium to communicate with family and friends living far from them.You can also check out our website for more wedding invitation templates Illustration or wedding invitation card templates PDF.
